“There is nothing more powerful or more joyful than connecting with love to the heart of another. This is how we will change the world.” Marsha Hankins

Oneness is the goal for us all. When what is known as the Experiment in Duality began, humanity moved into the perception that human beings were separate from God and separate from each other. Spiritual evolution is the process of moving back into Oneness with all things, so we can experience our God-Self and create a new paradigm for life on this planet.

Marsha Hankins is a teacher and private facilitator of the I AM SOURCE Program, a program channeled from The Christ to Kris Duffy in 1991 as a “how to” for contemporary man to achieve “full consciousness” and to become Living Masters. Marsha lives in Fort Collins, CO where she bases her practice. She also travels to teach the I AM SOURCE program around the country.

By understanding how we are living in separation, we can understand the new actions we must take in order to reverse the pull of separation and bring us together in Unity and Oneness with The God/Goddess and with each other. It is only in Oneness that we experience our God-Self. It is only when we experience our God-Self that we can live in true and lasting peace. How do we identify our separation and how do we turn that into Oneness? What do we need to do to experience ourselves as God?

Marsha began her spiritual journey in 1992 when she and her husband decided to drop out of the corporate life and “find themselves.” Their journey led them to Fort Collins where Marsha began her serious work as an energy healer and teacher. As time went by and her evolution became more profound Marsha knew she needed deeper spiritual teachings to help her understand the true nature of her God/Goddess-Self. Her Guidance led her to Kris Duffy where she began her journey into her true life’s work of helping others to find their true power as the gods and goddesses that they are. Marsha believes that everyone is a healer in some form. The path is to discover one’s own special talents and bring them forward to manifest change for oneself and for the planet.
