“At the age of two, sitting behind the piano, I could feel each note pour through me. The space between each note began to flow through each cell in my body, and then I felt it in my heart. As I inhaled each note into my heart, I felt it moving beyond me and into the room. It was then I realized the power of music was not a gift to hold, but a gift to share.”

More than notes on a page, music is the universal language of love, and Barry will share this gift from his heart to ours. He believes strongly in the healing aspects of music and is a translator of inspirational sound and sacred song.

His music is used globally, with individuals in hospitals, hospices, wellness centers and private practices. He has shared music from his critically acclaimed series, “Ambiology,” and his album, “The Moment,” with worldwide audiences, sharing space with Deepak Chopra, Wayne Dyer, Marianne Williamson and many others.
